YEARLY INDEX

Clavier, Volume XIII, 1974

Not every magazine publishes or needs to publish a cumulative index. Articles in Clavier, however, have no expiration date — they are timeless. This was demonstrated by the answers to a recent questionnaire sent to a random sample of Clavier subscribers. Of 489 readers answering a question as to how long they kept their copies of Clavier, 424 said, "Permanently." This assures us that the annual index, making it easier for a reader to locate any particular article, is of value. This index has appeared in every December issue, starting in 1965. The first one listed and indexed by author and category all articles printed from the magazine's inception in 1962. Each December since then, the index has included all articles for that year.
